Artropolis 2010 Update ~ 1 more day left

I'm exhausted but enthused after spending five hours this afternoon winding in and out of the aisles set up on the 12th and 7th floors of the Merchandise Mart's Artropolis this weekend. I know I didn't cover all the ground of Art Chicago and NEXT, but I'd say we came close. It was a terrific day and I thought I'd share some of my favorites works now, while the shows are still going on, to encourage any procrastinators to get over to the Mart!
